Free COVID-19 tracking app to supplement contact tracing.

Colorado, via CDPHE, is joining with Google and Apple to ensure Colorado residents and visitors who opt-in get local specific information and instructions.

Exposure Notifications is new technology available on both iPhone and Android phones that helps with contact tracing. If you have enabled Exposure Notifications on your phone, whenever you are within 6 feet of someone for at least 10 minutes, your phones will exchange secure, anonymous tokens. If you test positive for COVID-19, you have the ability to share these tokens which will send a push notification to anyone that you have exchanged tokens with notifying them of possible exposure.

Tokens contain no personal information and everything is completely anonymous.
